Very Cheeky

Paging all potty-mouths in need of new panties: STL Style's new line of uncouth undies is a big hit among smart mouths in the St. Louis region. Printed with hilarious phrases that, like undergarments themselves, can't be aired in a public forum, the cotton bikinis are available at a handful of area stores and online.

STL Style also has a fun collection of tees designed expressly for sardonic St. Louisans. We like the sarcastic "East St. Louis: Feel the magic" shirt. "Where The Mullet Meets the River" seems to be an astute observation of the interesting shape of our fair state. And who wouldn't be charmed by a "Highway Farty" tee?

STL Style carries brassier T-shirts that go very well, in both style and in sentiment, with its panties. But you'll have to sample them for yourself.

Sauce pick: Dressing with STL style
